VISITING LECTURER IN CHEMISTRY - INDIANAPOLIS

The Department of Chemistry & Chemical Biology at IUPUI (http://chem.iupui.edu/) invites applications for a Visiting Lecturer to begin January 1, 2018. The initial appointment will be for a year with the possibility of reappointment for a second year. Candidates with a background in mass spectrometry or NMR spectroscopy and capable of effectively teaching undergraduate courses in chemistry are particularly encouraged to apply. Candidates will be expected to support departmental facilities.

Applicants must hold an M.S and/or PhD. in chemistry. The successful candidate will be involved in efforts to acquire research-based instrumentation through intra- and extramural funding, as well as overseeing the installation and user training. Interest in supporting departmental research efforts, including those that complement campus-wide interdisciplinary research programs in the life and health sciences, is a strength.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, and three reference letters. Interested candidates should review the application requirements and submit their application to https://indiana.peopleadmin.com/postings/4762.

Evaluation of applications will begin on November 15, 2017 and will continue until the position is filled. IUPUI is an EEO/AA employer and is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their research and teaching. We encourage applications from women and members of minority groups.
