Milliken Research Corporation Announces the Fifth Annual Graduate Research Symposium

April 12-14, 2017
Roger Milliken Center, Spartanburg, South Carolina

This symposium offers a unique opportunity for students to interact with leading industrial researchers in their working environment. Student presenters will enjoy:

• All expenses paid (transportation, meals, and lodging)
• A $1000 honorarium
• Roundtable discussions with management and researchers
• Opportunity to present to a diverse audience of research personnel
• Networking with fellow presenters

Who Should Apply:
Successful doctoral students who have demonstrated excellence during their studies through publications, presentations, academic achievements, and awards. These graduates should expect to defend after December 2017 in the fields of chemistry, chemical engineering, electrical engineering, materials science, mechanical engineering, physics, polymer science, or related PhD program.

To apply and for more information:
http://tinyurl.com/o4b3l8z

Applications Due:
January 31, 2017